

As your child starts their time in our classroom, we will be looking at some of their skills on several basic tasks. These include:

- Writing their name without an example
- Copying their name from an example
- Imitating lines, simple shapes and letters after they watch a teacher make them
- Drawing a person
- Naming colors, shapes, letters and numbers

These are not things that we are expecting all of our students to know how to do at this time, so please don't worry if your child cannot do these! By doing this, we are creating what we call a "baseline" - a first example that we can look at later as a comparison as your child does start learning some of this skills during their time here in our classroom.

www.teachingthelittlepeople.com

As your child starts their time in our classroom, we will be looking at some of their skills on several basic tasks. These include:

- Writing their name without an example
- Copying their name from an example
- Imitating lines, simple shapes and letters after they watch a teacher make them
- Drawing a person
- Naming colors, shapes, letters and numbers

These are not things that we are expecting all of our students to know how to do at this time, so please don't worry if your child cannot do these! By doing this, we are creating what we call a "baseline" - a first example that we can look at later as a comparison as your child does start learning some of this skills during their time here in our classroom.

www.teachingthelittlepeople.com

As your child starts their time in our classroom, we will be looking at some of their skills on several basic tasks. These include:

- Writing their name without an example
- Copying their name from an example
- Imitating lines, simple shapes and letters after they watch a teacher make them
- Drawing a person
- Naming colors, shapes, letters and numbers

These are not things that we are expecting all of our students to know how to do at this time, so please don't worry if your child cannot do these! By doing this, we are creating what we call a "baseline" - a first example that we can look at later as a comparison as your child does start learning some of this skills during their time here in our classroom.

www.teachingthelittlepeople.com

As your child starts their time in our classroom, we will be looking at some of their skills on several basic tasks. These include:

- Writing their name without an example
- Copying their name from an example
- Imitating lines, simple shapes and letters after they watch a teacher make them
- Drawing a person
- Naming colors, shapes, letters and numbers

These are not things that we are expecting all of our students to know how to do at this time, so please don't worry if your child cannot do these! By doing this, we are creating what we call a "baseline" - a first example that we can look at later as a comparison as your child does start learning some of this skills during their time here in our classroom.

www.teachingthelittlepeople.com